Smarter Marketing...

Having worked in both B2C and B2B environments from an early age, I soon came to understand the absolute value of marketing for a business. After all, how can any company rely solely on the good name it has built over time? A good business needs good communication to attract new and loyal customers in order not just to sustain its position... but to steadily grow.

The past 16 years of working in the design marketing industry have been an absolute joy for me, with every day providing new and exciting challenges across a huge range of business arenas. From highly charged multinational corporations to small niche suppliers, every day is new and different, and it's there where the excitement is for me. A wise man once said "Choose a job you love, and you will never have to work a day in your life."

In recent times most industries have suffered due to the global economic downturn, and as such many organisations sought to cut costs by reducing their marketing spend. Some were unfortunately unable to weather these austere times, but many were better prepared and realised that you need to continue to 'bang the drum' even through tough times in order to maintain your market share.

Through Smarter Marketing, Creativeworld has continued to help a wide range of companies realise an even greater return on their marketing investment, by ensuring that every pound spent delivers truly tangible results. We apply a combined wealth of experience to advise and direct our customers along the most suitable route; for example by adopting a digital approach as a more cost effective means of promoting their products or services. Our dedicated teams consider our clients budget as if it were their own and strive to deliver excellence in results with optimum VFM.

Our in-house teams work together to provide harmonious results, combining traditional creative values with the very latest digital technologies. More importantly we expertly manage every project from the outset, and it is this hands on process that generates absolute client confidence, enabling them to feel relaxed and assured that the end results will exceed their brief.

Creativeworld, by its very nature is an ethical company, with every agreed quotation being as transparent as possible and we make sure that deadlines are achieved where humanly possible and with no hidden charges.

Included in this issue is a broad range of instructions that we've been privileged to work on and I'm sure you will recognise more than one or two of them. I hope that this brochure will give you the confidence in Creativeworld's abilities, along with the desire to work with our teams on your next marketing project.

Hopefully 2013 will see the icy grip of austerity loosen even more, and while these times will continue to challenge us all, I feel confident that Great British Marketing will prevail, leading to stronger foundations for all in the future.
